AN EDITORIAL:

Responsible journalism and The Echo

Last Monday the Board in Control of Intercollegiate Athletics met to discuss the important question of Eastern's continued participation in the IIAC. The Board voted to postpone for two weeks a decision on the matter.

Neither of the two student members of the Board attended this meeting to discuss a policy which is certain to have far-reaching implications to the entire student body.

Another disturbing factor came out of Monday's meeting, however — the seeming inference that The Echo could not be counted upon to present a responsible report of what transpired at the meeting.

Before the Board began talking about the IIAC decision — something which most EMC students are avidly interested in — the chairman told campus newsmen present that they would be allowed to print any decision made by the Board, but that "everything said at this meeting is off the record." He added, "If I can't have a gentlemen's agreement with the press in regard to this, I'll call the Board into executive session."

The statement was surprising because just before making it, the chairman had stated that all meetings of the Board were open to the public. "We conduct our business in a goldfish bowl," he said.

In fact, a special invitation to attend this meeting was received by a member of the Echo staff. This was the first time, in the memory of anyone on the staff, that such an invitation to a meeting of ANY college policy-making body had been received. It was most gratefully welcomed as a step forward in making students more aware of decisions affecting them and also as a vote of confidence in The Echo as a vehicle to make known the news of these decisions. The member of the Athletics Board who sent this invitation is to be congratulated. It is certainly a step away from the over-sensitivity of many administration officials in all colleges who look upon the college press with a non-confident, suspicious eye.

In reporting a story of such a meeting, it should be understood that not only a final decision is news. The various opinions expressed in helping to shape a decision are important as back-

Shape plans to get out vote; petitions due

Nominating petitions for all-campus offices will be due by 4:00 p.m. next Monday, April 13, the Student Council elections committee announced this week.

Elections for the president and officers of Student Council, Men's Union, Women's League and the Women's Recreation Association will be held on April 22.

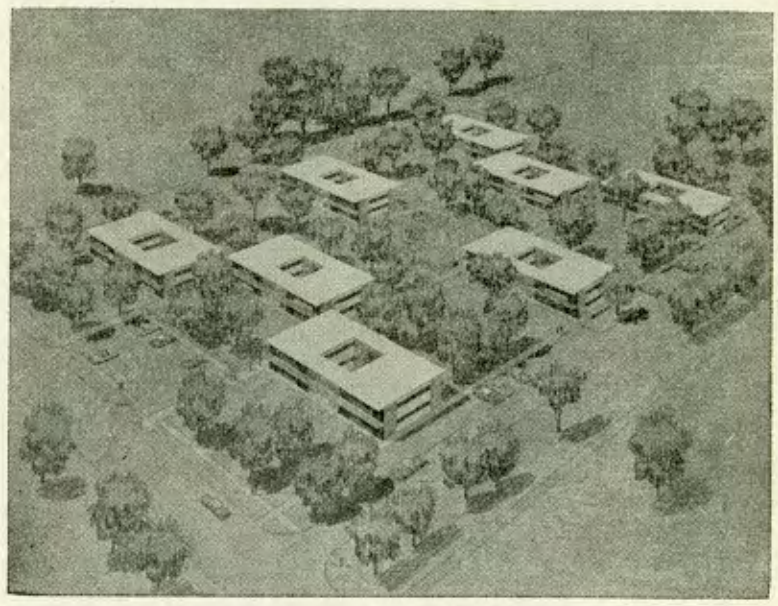
Other offices to be voted for on that date include justices and a clerk for Student Court, representatives to Student Council and officers of residence halls.

According to Fred Chynchuck, chairman of campus elections, plans are shaping up for a vigorous campaign to get out the vote.

"We're getting posters stressing the importance of a large turnout at the polls distributed throughout the campus," he said, "and, as part of the campaign, each candidate for Student Council president will be asked to submit a statement of his beliefs to the Echo."

Nominating petitions which may still be procured at the office of Dean of Student Activities Ralph Gilden in Pierce Hall, must be returned by the Monday deadline to the same office.

The Elections Committee will release a full list of all accepted candidates by next Wednesday.



THIS ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION shows the 90 additional apartment units for married students housing to be constructed at Pine Grove Terrace. Ground for the six-building unit will be broken in July.

College plans new housing

Additional housing facilities for married Eastern Michigan College students will be provided with a 90-unit apartment project being planned for early construction.

College officials announced that construction on the six-building unit would begin in July. The housing units will be located around a central court which will include a playground area for children of the residents, with parking space on the border.

In each of the two story structures there will be seven two-bedroom and eight one-bedroom apartment units. The group of buildings will be in an area of approximately seven acres.

Site of the new homes will be immediately east of Cornell Rd., and north of the spur line railroad running across the campus in that area. The land for the apartment buildings was recently acquired by EMC.

The college also announced plans for future married housing units to be built north of the six new buildings. These additional units, of the same type, will be located north of the new housing units as college growth makes additional married student housing necessary. Plans for these buildings call for a density of 15 apartment units to an acre of land.

Young peoples' diseases highlight Health Education Day program here

The science of medicine for young people — known as "Ephebiatrics" — was the theme of a two-day Health Education Day program which wound up on the Eastern campus this afternoon at 4:00 p.m.

A series of displays and movies covering ailments and diseases common to men and women, aged 18 through 25, was exhibited in the alumni lounge. Informational material designed to give both students and the public an idea of current student medical and health problems was featured.

Co-operating groups who sponsored the program were the college Health Service, the Physical Education Departments of EMC and the Washtenaw County Tuberculosis Association. Miss Minetta Michall, of the Michigan TB Association in Lansing, served as a consultant during the program.

Faculty members star in production

Two members of the Eastern teaching faculty are being featured in the Ypsilanti Players' production of "The Solid Gold Cadillac" next week.

Prof. Thomas Dume and Prof. Ted Hefley, both of the English Department, will play the roles of Warren Giflie, treasurer of the Board of Directors, and T. John Blessington, chairman of the Board, respectively, in the forthcoming production.

The last play of the season, this production will be presented at the Quirk Theatre on the college campus for three performances on April 16, 17, and 18. Curtain time all three nights is 8:15 p.m. Student tickets, now available at the box office, are 1.00.

Ray Nichols is director of the play.

Rules given for first all-campus writing contest

Entries will be accepted until May 1 for the Concepts literary contest, it was announced this week. All entries must comply with the following rules:

Purpose: To encourage students at Eastern Michigan College to write quality material for publication in the college magazine, Concepts.

Categories: Poetry, short story, essay. No plays or novels.

Awards: In each category, First Prize, $25; Second Prize, $10; Third Prize, $5.

Judgement: The Judges are the faculty advisors of Concepts magazine for the spring and fall semester 1959.

Eligibility of Authors: Any student who is enrolled at E.M.C. during the school semester spring and fall 1959 is eligible for this contest.

Deadline: For material submitted spring 1959, not later than May 1. Fall deadlines—to be announced.

Elibility of Manuscripts: Written material must have all rights cleared and be so declared. Co-authors must be eligible and their name stated. Material should not have been printed previously in any other publication. Any poem, short story or essay which complies with the rules, submitted to Concepts during 1959 will be considered in this contest. Winners will be announced in the fall of 1959.

Specifications of Material: All poetry. Short stories to 5000 words. Essays to 3000 words.

Manuscripts must be typewritten on standard-size white paper, double-spaced, on one side only. The author's name should not appear on any page of the ms, but should be typed on a separate sheet of paper covering the ms. The title should appear on the first page of the ms, not on a separate cover sheet.

Submission: All material should be submitted to Concepts, Box 72, McKenny Hall, EMC, Ypsilanti.

Material submitted should be accompanied by an entry blank (which will be printed in the Echo) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for return of the ms.

The contest personnel will not be responsible for the loss or damage of manuscripts. Material submitted, except for winning manuscripts, will be returned two weeks after the announcement of winners.

EMC senior gets $1600 scholarship

Mrs. Louise Barbee, EMC senior, has received a State College Scholarship with a $1600 stipend for graduate study at the University of Michigan next fall.

Mrs. Barbee has a 3.97 average and is a mathematics and physics major. She graduated from Watertown, Tennessee, High School in 1938 and enrolled at EMC four years ago.

Four such scholarships are awarded each year by the Horace C. Rackham School of Graduate studies to students at state colleges. The funds are to finance one year of graduate study.

Teaching at the college level is included in Mrs. Barbee's plans for the future. She is married to Mr. L. B. Barbee, a government marketing specialist, and has a 14-year-old son.

A Wayne, Michigan, resident, she commutes daily to her classes at EMC.

Coeds may enter 'Miss America' prelims here

"Miss Ypsilanti 1960" will be selected in May in a preliminary to the "Miss America" contest, and EMC coeds will be eligible to compete for the title, the Ypsilanti Junior Chamber of Commerce announced this week.

Application forms will be available soon, and fraternities, sororities, and residence halls will be invited to sponsor contestants. Judging will be on the same bases as the national contest, and the winner will receive a $500 scholarship and be eligible to compete in the "Miss Michigan" contest.

Those competing must be between the ages of 18 and 28 as of September 1, 1959, and must be high school graduates by that date.

Responsible journalism and The Echo

ground material to understanding it. Readers have a right to know not only WHAT happened but WHY it happened. Knowledge of both is the surest deterrent to rumor. Furthermore, a newspaper would have no need for reporters if it could not report statements made by individuals during a "public" meeting; it would just have to rely on handouts containing only what the holders of such a meeting wanted printed.

It is not the intention here to embarass the Athletics Board. Apparently its members felt that spur-of-the-moment outbursts by individuals during discussion should not be published for obvious reasons. Yet any responsible journalist already realizes this. It is not hard, even for a college novice to the profession, to discern the difference between a responsible statement and something that is said in the heat of anger and which is regretted a moment later. The most casual observer can see the difference. The responsible statements should be reported, the others not.

This is a plea for two things: That other policy-making boards on this campus follow the initiative of the Athletics Board in inviting the public and the press to their meetings and that such boards treat reporters as responsible individuals.

A healthy atmosphere for all concerned is the certain outcome.

Weekly Official Bulletin

Publication of any notice in the Weekly Official Bulletin is to be considered official notification for all members of the college community. All persons are responsible for reading the bulletin each week.

Notices for the Weekly Official Bulletin must be turned in to Room 201, Pierce Hall (to Mr. Green) by 10 a.m. on Wednesday. They must be typed and should be marked "For Weekly Official Bulletin."

Caps and Gowns — June Graduates

Those seniors graduating in June who will require caps and gowns for the commencement ceremony must come into McKenny Hall Bookstore to be measured during the week of April 13 - 17. Bookstore hours: 8:30 to 5:00 daily.

1959 Selective Service Student Qualification

The Selective Service college qualification test will be given to college men April 30, 1959, State Selective Service Headquarters has announced.

The April 30 test will be the only test offered for the 1958-59 school year. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight Thursday, April 9, 1959. The test will be administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J.

Scores made on the test are used by local draft boards as one guide in considering requests for deferment from military service to continue studies. The test will be given at 28 Michigan colleges and universities.

Application cards and instructions are available from Selective Service local boards. Men planning to take the test should make early application at the nearest local board office for detailed information and necessary forms and materials.

Student deferments, which test scores have helped determine since 1951, have been a major factor in insuring the nation's supply of specialized manpower. Many students deferred under this program are todays scientists, engineers and specialists in other technical fields and in the social sciences, teaching and humanities.

Since only one test will be offered this school year, students wishing to take the test must obtain 1959 application cards and instructions from any local board. Use of old application cards may result in students missing the test.

Withdrawals From Class

Friday, April 10, marks the end of the period during which a withdrawal from class may be utilized for any reasonable class load adjustment.

Beginning Monday, April 13, it is not possible for a student to withdraw from class with a 'W' unless there are specific extenuating circumstances warranting such action.

Passing Through

Doubts of tomorrow

by C. W. Cheng

A few weeks ago, the TV program "20th Century" featured a series entitled "Generation Without a Cause." This label referred to our present day youth. Although the program limited itself to students at Rutgers University, there was much truth presented that illustrates a few basic weaknesses in the values held by our young people.

The two most significant highlights of the program came from the average college students who lucidly explained their future desires in terms of self security, and a second group, the beatniks, who are opposed to many of the existing values of our society, which is good to a degree.

On the question of security, it cannot be denied that a family and a home plus other self-rewarding conveniences are desirable. However, this domestic atmosphere must not be an end but only a means to strive for an enriched and better society in the future.

Security is a frequently used term today because of world tensions but we must all begin to work within the realm of such difficult tensions.

The beatnik group is a rather lamentable one because of the very fact that its members are watching and waiting with no practical results occurring. There must be persistent efforts to place their ideas before the public and to fight with words for what they believe.

In short, there can be no question that the title of the program was misleading for we do have a cause. The crucial issue is to be seen in the purpose of the cause which is highly questionable. Within each group there is a vacuum which needs strong and exuberant energetic leadership.

Perhaps each group mentioned and all who truly want to strive for continued social and political action should eradicate the serious skepticism and doubts they hold regarding the future of other labeled generations. We should recall the worlds of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt concerning our world today — "Our only limitations of today are our doubts of tomorrow . . . "

To accomplish great feats under a serene atmosphere is comparatively an easy task, but to accomplish cherished feats within our own fears can be considered a miraculous achievement in our generation.

Letters to the editor:

21 'pan' honors assembly

Editor's Note: The Echo received 21 letters regarding the recent Honors Convocation, and cannot print them in full. .Instead, the following excerpts have been selected as representative.

To the Editor:

The Honors Convocation program once again was not meaningful to the student body because it didn't really honor anyone. If it hadn't been for President Elliott's few words of praise, the program might have been just another assembly.

Carol Lynn Rosentrater

To the Editor:

"A Glimpse at Russian Education" was an educational lecture frosted in pretty pink by the words "Honors Convocation." If you call an assembly to honor students of exceptionally high academic standards, why not stick to the point and give honor where honor is due?

Carol Howard

To the Editor:

After attending the Honors Convocation for the first time, I see why many students prefer the Union during that hour. The students were lured to the auditorium by a promise of a good speaker and to honor those students with a high academic average. Instead, they heard a short convocation address and a lengthy speech which was read with much speed and lack of personality.

Robert Mack

To the Editor:

There was no recognition given to the honor students except for congratulations by President Elliott as part of his introductory speech for the guest speaker, Blair Stewart. If I had walked into the auditorium during the convocation address, I would have though I was in the wrong place. Dean Stewart spoke on education in Russia, a subject that had nothing to do with honoring anyone.

Barbara Reichert

To the Editor:

I believe it would be a good idea if the Honors Convocation were discontinued.

Janet Britz

To the Editor:

Time, to most of us, is too precious to waste on a camouflaged assembly.

A Concerned Observer

To the Editor:

I feel that the Honors Convocation is a very good way of showing our respect for the honor students, but it must be changed so that it is not just another lecture but an actual ceremony honoring those students with high averages.

Karen Zerwick

International group thanks .

To the Editor:

The International Association, through its officers, extends sincere gratitude to the college and particularly to the Office of Student Activities for making possible the re-establishment of our organization.

One of the primary goals of an International association is to facilitate the exchange and discussion of ideas among students with dissimilar cultural background.

Our association is not designed to isolate the foreign student from the college community, but to further his contribution to and his integration within that community. It is not just an association for "foreign students," but for all students.

We take this opportunity to welcome everyone to our future programs and discussions and to request the support of the student body in making the International Association successful.

Cancel art show; plan new exhibit

The Guggenheim Foundation loan collection of prints which was scheduled to be exhibited in the Art Building's gallery on Wednesday, April 8, has been cancelled, due to a conflict in scheduling.

Remaining exhibitions include paintings, drawing, and sculpture from the EMC permanent collection, plus recent acquisitions. These will remain on exhibition from April 17 through April 24.

A student show will take place on May 11, and the second annual outdoor sale show which will be held near the campus fountain will take place on May 13 and 14.

New business fraternity formed on EMC campus

Psi Kappa Alpha, a professional business fraternity, has recently been formed on campus for Eastern students. Membership in the new organization will be composed of men who have a major in business or a major in economics. Those men possessing a cumulative 2.00 scholastic average are eligible to attend.

Weekly meetings for the purpose of learning the business profession through contacts with men now associated with this field are one of the highlights of the new organization's plans.

Information about Psi Kappa Alpha may be obtained from its advisor, Mr. M. C. Schoor of the business department, or from the president of the chapter, Larry Schaefer.

Brass, voices join in concert

Netters prepare; opener Saturday

by Bob Quick

Tennis coach Russell Bush is rather fortunate this year in that he suffered the loss of only one man, Bob Perry, from last year's fourth place IIAC squad.

Returning lettermen are: Bob Martian, captain and present number one man who went undefeated as number two man in 1957. Joe Siedl, last year's number two man; Dick Davey, number three man a year ago; Bob Doumanian, who competed as number four man; Bob Opiteck, last year's number five man; and Elwood Leslie, who played number six singles last year.

Bush has two very promising freshmen prospects in Benny Brose, who played number one singles at Ypsilanti High School last year, and Lee Moore, who held a like position on the Roosevelt High squad.

This year's schedule has been bolstered somewhat by the addition of Kalamazoo College as an opponent. Kalamazoo is perennially one of the nation's top small college tennis squads. The Hornets will provide the EMC squad with their first opposition on April 11 at Eastern. The match will start at 2:30, as will all home meets this year.

Most disgusting item as far as Coach Bush is concerned is the condition of the courts. Apparently the architect of the present courts was thinking of something other than tennis when those now in use were constructed. Bush quickly points out that it is extremely hard to make out the base-line from either side of the service-lines. The reason for this is the hump which has appeared all along the center-court at the net.

As far as Bush is concerned, the major product of the EMC courts is the making of a good tennis player into one who gets progressively worse.

In summing up, Coach Bush's remarks, the present schedule is admittedly a rough one, but it should provide several interesting matches for Huron net fans.

Skala shows optimism

Coach Jim Skala is quite optimistically preparing his duffers for the 1959 season. With six top-notch golfers from last year's squad returning Skala feels that EMC should definitely be one of the favorites in the IIAC meet at Washtenaw Country Club on May 21 and 22.

Four of the returning sextet, Captain Ed Meredith, Lloyd Otto, Folmer Jensen, and Cliff Zill paid their own expenses to make a tour through North Carolina during spring vacation. According to the results, these men are in very good shape considering the fact that it is so early in the season.

Al Siebert and Norv Schock should fight it out for the fifth position on the squad. Both have the potential to become very fine golfers but have played slightly erratic golf in their EMC careers.

Practice . . . makes perfect

Head baseball coach Bill Crouch is faced with the problem of finding replacements for the two most valuable Hurons of last spring. Don Mack, who signed with the Boston Red Sox chain, and Louis Nemeth, who entered the marital institution last year, are the two missing.

Otherwise, the EMC squad is in pretty good shape, with the return of the top two members of the pitching staff in Neil Otto and Ted Nix. Nix has been bothered with arm trouble in past springs but Crouch is hoping for the best this year. Ron Gulyas, who also lettered, is back to bolster the staff.

In the outfield, the Eastern club possesses the most experienced and capable stickmen on the club. With Frank Manley, Ray Mathews, and Charlie Shonta (all feared for their healthy cuts) plus another letterman Lou Maini pounding the horsehide once again, the Hurons will have one of the IIAC's most potent offensive attacks.

Bowlers on top

Eastern Michigan's bowling team remains on top in the newly formed Inter-Collegiate Bowling League, as play enters its sixth week.

At the half-way mark in season's play, the EMC bowlers carry the following averages: John Dudek 183, Al Siebert 180, Bob White 180, Norm Vesprini 178, Ray Bellore 169, and Mario Valentino 161.

The infield, aside from filling one of the important second base or "keystone sack" positions is relatively well set. The only gap being the absence of the slugging Mack at second. His position will probably be filled by Eddie Berrington, moving over from shortstop, with numerous candidates fighting it out for Berrington's old shortstop position. Third-baseman, Harold Duffield and first-baseman Bill Shelton are top candidates to return to duty at their respective positions.

John Murray, who lettered as a catcher last season, will probably handle most of pitchers this season. John caught the nightcap in most of last year's doubleheaders.

At the present time newcomers showing the greatest promise are Nick Genova, catcher, and John Kubiak, who appears to be on the the inside track to getting the shortstop position.

The Hurons first regular season venture onto the diamond will be April 14 against the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. The team will open at home on April 22 against the University of Detroit.

Jones takes Calhoun, American record at Chicago Daily News Relays in :07

Eastern Michigan's Hayes Jones equaled the American indoor record of :07 in winning the 60-yard high hurdles. This feat was accomplished at the Chicago relays in the amphitheater last March 28.

Jones avenged his defeat by Lee Calhoun, at a previous meeting in the Cleveland Relays. Calhoun of Durham, North Carolina, finished second and was followed by Willie May of Indiana and Dick Stillwaggon of Purdue in that order. The :07 by Jones matches the record that he holds with Milt Campbell, now of the United States Navy.

Jones was not the only representative of Michigan. In the university two-mile relay the University of Michigan came in second behind Penn State and was followed by Western Michigan.

First place in the second division of the University Mile Relay was taken by Central Michigan with their team of Walters, O'Neill, Meyers, and Blalock. Western finished second.

Varsity Club elects officers

The Eastern Michigan Varsity Club held their annual spring dinner at which they elected officers for 1959-60. Those elected were: President-Bob Kosanovich; Vice-president-Dave Longridge; and Secretary-treasurer Gary Dode. The principal speaker at the fete was Dr. L. W. Olds.

The case of the typing paper that erased without a trace—or,

EATON'S CORRĀSABLE BOND
Typewriter Paper

It's a cinch to "rub out" typing errors and leave no "clues", when you use Eaton's Corrāsable Bond Paper. Never smears, never smudges—because Corrāsable's like-magic surface . . . erases without a trace! (A flick of the wrist and a pencil eraser puts things right!) This fine quality bond paper gives a handsome appearance to all your work. It's a perfect crime not to use it!

Erasable Corrāsable is available in all the weights you might require—from onionskin to heavy bond. In convenient 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. A Berkshire Typewriter Paper, backed by the famous Eaton name.
